Prosecutor appointment leaves consolidation still possible for Bay

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis City Council has appointed a prosecutor but that appointment is not expected to affect proposed consolidation plans.

John Genin, who has been serving as interim prosecutor, was appointed Tuesday for an indefinite term of office which is scheduled to begin March 1.

The previous salary for city prosecutor consisted of a $1,000 per month retainer, but Genin's salary was increased to $1,500 by unanimous vote.

The $1,000 did not include the cost of appeals, which were paid separately, but the $1,500 will include it, Mayor Edward Favre said before the vote.

Under the new agreement, if Genin decides he needs another attorney to assist him on a particular case, he will be responsible for choosing that attorney and for any compensation arrangements.

Favre said the new salary, once the cost of appeals is considered, is "no real increase."

At a meeting last week to discuss possible consolidation of government services, Favre suggested to other Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County officials that City Court be consolidated with the county's justice court in order to save on costs, if the law permits such a move.

At that time, Hancock County Board of Supervisors Attorney Gerald Gex stated that there is a provision in the Mis-issippi Code which allows Justice Court judges to act as City Court judges, but they can not be paid for their services to the city.

The only decision made at the consolidation meeting called for the appointment of committees to study different compensation possibilities, with one person appointed to each committee by each political entity.

Favre had stated that he felt that Bay St. Louis has a particularly good opportunity for consolidation in courts and law enforcement dispatching, because both the city prosecutor and police chief are interim appointees.

"We're still looking at consolidation, but we're not quite ready to appoint a committee,"

Favre said Wednesday. "That's why John's appointment was for an indefinite period instead of a specific term."

The mayor stated that a special meeting might be called to appoint committee members if county officials are interested in starting consolidation discussions prior to the city council's March 6 meeting.

If county officials are not ready to act before that time, the appointments are expected to be on the agenda for the March 6 meeting.

Favre said he had read some of Waveland Mayor John Longo's comments regarding consolidation.

Although some of those comments indicated that Waveland may not be ready to consolidate in the immediate future, Favre stated that Bay St. Louis would consider a consolidation with Hancock County to improve efficiency of services.

He had stated at the consolidation meeting that he believes consolidation between two entities would not really reduce costs to taxpayers.

"The real savings would occur if all three of us did it, but even with just Bay St. Louis and the county, we would see an improvement in services," he stated.

ON PATROL

TASK FORCE ARRESTS THREE

The Hancock County Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force has arrested three people after executing two search warrants.

Glen Strong, director of the task force, said all three arrests took place at about 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Jeffrey G. Smith, 27, of Apt. 41 Pine Shadow Apartments in Waveland, was arrested at his residence and was charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute, Strong said. The substance in this case was cocaine.

The execution of the second warrant resulted in the arrests of Patricia Thomas, 29, and Franklin Keller, 34, both of Apt. 27 Pine Shadow. Both were charged with possession of a controlled substance. The substances were cocaine and marijuana, Strong stated.

All three were released on $5,000 bond each.

Assisting the execution of the warrants and the arrests were task force Agents Gus Aime Jr. and Jimmy Varnell, along with Hancock County Sheriff's Department Deputies Terry Eley and Kenny Hurt and Waveland Police Department officers Rene Norman and Gene Moran.

Layoff notices mailed to ammo plant workers

Layoff notices have been mailed to employees of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at John C. Stennis Space Center.

Sixty-day notices were mailed to all 1,700 employees of the facility, most of whom will be jobless after mid-April, said

Robert Burns, communications director for Mason Chamberlain, Inc., the contractor operating the facility.

Exactly how many will be laid off then and how many will be able to keep their jobs until 1991 should be determined within the next 10 days, he added.

Discontinuing the manufacture of the plant's product, 155mm artillery shells for the U.S. Army and the U.S. Marine Corps, will result in about 1,300 layoffs.

The other 300 to 400 workers

Council expresses concern over prisoner medical costs

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Bay St. Louis City Council is becoming increasingly concerned regarding medical costs for people in law enforcement custody.

Under state law, the city is liable for the costs of medical care of those prisoners being held in the county jail after their arrests by the city police department, if the people in custody can not pay the costs themselves, City Clerk Kay Johnson explained.

"The city is responsible, but the person (who incurs the bill) is responsible first," she stated.

Bay St. Louis is now coping with a medical bill for a prisoner who required hospitalization in July 1989. A combination of all the charges from those who provided medical services to the individual is more than $8,500, Johnson stated.

The council, in its Tuesday night meeting, discussed the bill and instructed its attorney, John Seafide Jr., to continue negotiating with service providers.

Children's parades highlight Friday

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Children will reign over a number of "petite" Mardi Gras celebrations tomorrow as local nursery and elementary schools take their parades to the streets.

Bay-Waveland Headstart students will parade down Nacaise Street in Bay St. Louis at 9:30 a.m.

Kindergarten and preschoolers at Coast Episcopal Elementary will board decorated wagons and bicycles for their annual parade around the school grounds beginning at 10 a.m.

Maskers at Trinity Nursery School in Pass Christian will march on the school grounds at 11 a.m.

Bay Catholic Elementary will parade in downtown Bay St. Louis at 1 p.m. The parade will start at the school parking lot, roll down Union Street to Beach Boulevard, down Beach to Court Street to Second Street and end with a toast to the royalty by Bay St. Louis city officials at City Hall.

An honor guard, students who have attended Bay Catholic from kindergarten through sixth grade, will include

Daniette Bourgeois, Casey Heitzmann, Jami Chiniche, Jeremy Compretta, Marcel Singleton; Correy Gex, Julie Heitzmann, Kellie Hille, Joshua Ladner, Bryan Lee, Karen Parker, Steve Scianna and Edna Delgado.

Our Lady Academy and St. Stanislaus students who have attended Catholic school through twelfth grade include Laura Haas, Morgan Kowalski and Cindy Pitolo, OLA; and Billy Chevis, Tommy Jennings, Mickey Lagasse and Chris Peronne, SSC.

Parade marshals will include Brother Aquin Gautier, R. John O'Brien and Rev. Gilbert O'Connell.

At 1:30 p.m., kindergartners from North Bay Elementary will honor royalty King & Queen Ricky Benvenuti and Queen Anne Devon Breland; they reign over the Krewes Kindergarten. The theme of the parade will be "Mou-Goose".

Ricky is the son of Patricia and Lynne Benvenuti; Devon is the daughter of Ch...

McPhail to serve as grand marshal in Diamondhead

Mississippi Republican Party Chairman Evelyn W. McPhail will serve as grand marshal of the 1990 Mardi Gras festivities in Diamondhead on Saturday.

The fifteenth annual parade will begin at noon at the Country Club, depicting the theme

EVELYN MCPHAIL

"Children's Stories."

McPhail has been active at every level of the state and national Republican Party. She has served as secretary of the Hancock County Republican Executive Committee and was the first vice president of the Mississippi Federation of Republican Women.

She was elected to represent Mississippi as a delegate to the 1984 and 1988 Republican National Conventions and attended the 1980 convention as an alternate delegate.

She led the Mississippi delegation to the 1988 convention in New Orleans as chairman. In January 1989, she was elected chairman of the Southern States Chairmen's Association.

McPhail has held key positions in the campaigns of Ronald Reagan, Thad Cochran, Trent Lott and Gil Carmichael.

While director of community services for Diamondhead Corporation, she was instrumental in laying the foundation for the present Mardi Gras Krewe of Diamondhead. She is a real estate agent and has served as general manager of Fairway Villa Resort.

A resident of Bay St. Louis and Jackson, she and her late husband, John R. McPhail, raised three children.

NO GREATER LOVE

Approximately 100 members of a mime and clown ministry "No Greater Love" will extend God's message to parade goers during the Mardi Gras season.

They will appear at Harvest Time Church, 951 East Scenic Drive, Pass Christian over the weekend and will participate in the St. Paul Carnival Association parade in Pass Christian on Sunday.

Rain forces rescheduling of annual Nereids parade

Special to the Echo
According to Greek mythology, the Nereids were the mermaid daughters of Nereus the Sea God and Doris; but even the mermaids of Nereids succumbed to the whims of Mother nature on Sunday, Feb. 18. The spirit of the Nereids, however, was not dampened.

The 24th annual parade has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 27 at noon. The captain, Queen Doris XXIV, her maids, dukes and pages will lead the krewe in a festive parade on Mardi Gras day along the original parade route.

To add to the celebration of Mardi Gras, the krewe will sponsor a costume contest to be held at Waveland Resort Inn prior to the parade.

Prizes will be awarded for the most original costume in three categories:

—Children 10 years old and under

—Children and teenagers 11 through 17

—Adults 18 and over.

For more information on this contest, contact Delores Richmond at 467-7033.

The captain encourages all participants who were scheduled to parade on Sunday, Feb. 18, to join the parade with the krewe on Mardi Gras Day.

Nereids will also accept other entries for this date. All participants must be pre-registered.

Nereids sponsors costume contest

The first annual Nereids costume contest will be held at 11 a.m. on Mardi Gras day, Tuesday, Feb. 27, around the pool at the Waveland Resort Inn. This event is prior to the 24th annual Nereids parade.

Prizes will be given for the most original costume overall in singles, couples and group categories.

Children will be judged ages

10 and under. There will be a special classification for teenagers ages 11 through 17 and adults 18 and over.

Registration will be at 10:30 a.m. and judging begins promptly at 11 a.m. No registration fee is required.

Everyone is invited to participate and join in the Mardi Gras festivities.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The best of plans can be changed because of weather conditions and that is what has happened to the annual Krewe of Nereids parade scheduled for last Sunday.

I spoke to the captain of Nereids on Sunday and she was disappointed the parade had to be rescheduled, but her organization wants everyone to have a "big party," so the parade will be rescheduled.

Nereids has been rescheduled for Mardi Gras Day, Tuesday, Feb. 27 at noon.

This was the second time in the krewe's 24-year history a parade had to be rescheduled. The last time that happened was the year of Hurricane Camille.

The Nereids captain reported the krewe members will be throwing thousands of posters to spectators titled "Nereids visits Oz" during the parade.

As usual, the krewes of Eros and Hancock will follow on the rescheduled day.

A costume contest will be held at the Waveland Resort Inn at 11 a.m. on the morning of the parade.

Interested marching groups, or those with floats, may contact Nereids at 467-7635 for further information.

The parade next year will once again be set for the regular scheduled day.

While on the subject of parades, there will be four school children events on Friday.

The annual Headstart parade is scheduled for 9:30 a.m.; Coast Episcopal parade is at 10 a.m.; the Our Lady of the Gulf parade at 1 p.m.; and the Waveland Elementary parade is set for 1:30 p.m.

The youngsters all seem to have a good time during these school parades.

Next Saturday the annual Land and Sea parades at Diamondhead are scheduled to roll at noon.

Evelyn McPhail, who I think is a very deserving person, will serve as grand marshal for the Diamondhead parade.

I had the honors two years ago and really enjoyed myself.

Sunday's parade will be the annual St. Paul Carnival Association's event in Pass Christian.

The Pass parade is one of the largest in the immediate area in number of floats and is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Mardi Gras Day will see the Krewe of Real People scheduled for 1 p.m. in Bay St. Louis.

This parade forms by St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church and winds through the City of Bay St. Louis.

Many folks view the Krewe of Real People parade from their door steps.

I hope each and everyone will have a safe and happy Mardi Gras.

It is good to see that Waveland's fire rating has been reduced to Class Six by the Mississippi State Rating Bureau.

I can recall the days when Waveland's Volunteer Firefighters came into being, as I was a member of the department.

The department had one worn out pumper and several hundred feet of rotten hose with a couple of nozzles.

At that time it was the second fire department in the county. The only other one was the Bay St. Louis department. I think at the time the Bay Fire Department had only two paid firemen.

Waveland now is the only fire department in the county that has two full-time stations with paid firefighters on duty at all times.

Waveland's fire department has come a long way in just a few short years.

The new fire rating for the city will probably lower the insurance premiums for many residents.

Do penance, eat tomatoes; they're $1.50 apiece

Dear Editor,
In Sunday's column "Reflections," Father LeDoux feels that doing penance during Lent by foregoing meat is not really penance, because tickling one's palate with seafood like crawfish bisque, crawfish etouffe, oysters Rockefeller, shrimp scampi, stuffed trout, lobster, etc. is a bewildering and scrumptious choice. How true. "And yet," Father LeDoux says, "U.S. church leaders still insist on substituting seafood for meat."

Has Father LeDoux priced the above-mentioned yummys lately?

Seems the average consumer does penance every time a grocery store is entered. The meat course is so often chicken, one is about to cackle, and tomatoes are $1.50 apiece. What lobster?

With friendly greetings,

Nereids should have considered Real People's parade scheduling

To the Editor:
It is my opinion and the opinion of others I have spoken to that it is not right for the Nereids organization to parade at the same time as the Real People parade.

Since I was a small child, my family and I have always gone to the Real People parade on Mardi Gras Day.

When Triton was still parading, the Real People organization started their parade early enough to finish before Triton started. This way everyone could enjoy both parades.

I'm sorry that the Nereids parade was rained out, but I don't understand why the Nereids organization has to parade at the same time as the Real People parade.

Why can't Nereids parade later that afternoon so everyone can enjoy both parades?

PAC contributors may include foreign investors

To the Editor:
We have seen that under existing law, and with the advent of PAC campaign funds provided by special interest, there is practically no limit to the amount of money that may be spent in a campaign to elect a president of the United States, or a senator, or a congressman.

Now, with foreign investors buying control of some American corporations, is there a possibility that at some point certain foreign investors might make very generous contributions to some PAC funds and elect candidates who might tend to favor them in case of conflict with the best interest of our country?

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

The first step toward a policy on literacy

As much as a quarter of the American labor force, anywhere from 20 to 27 million adults, lacks the basic reading, writing and math skills necessary to perform in today's increasingly complex job market.

The number of functionally illiterate adults is increasing by approximately two and one quarter million persons each year. This number includes nearly one million young people who drop out of school before graduation.

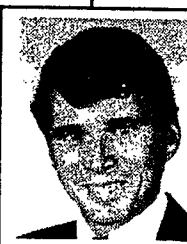

One estimate places the yearly cost in welfare programs and unemployment compensation due to illiteracy at $6 billion. An additional $237 billion a year in unrealized earnings is forfeited by persons who lack basic reading skills, according to Literacy Volunteers of America.

With those grim statistics before us, the Senate last week debated and passed the National Literacy Act which establishes a national mandate and provides federal support to combat the extensive problem of illiteracy.

The legislation authorizes an estimated $229 million to fund the direct correlation between the educational attainment of parents and their children.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Campaign finance reform would encourage competition

The best way to restore honesty and integrity to government is to begin limiting what elected officials can collect.

Congress has already banned some forms of honoraria but it should begin now to put limits on contributions that candidates can collect and spend on elections.

The Senate and House have debated campaign finance reform for years without coming up with the right legislation.

A bill recently introduced by the Senate Democratic leadership, however, contains key provision that both parties should support:

- Limits the amount of political action committee (PAC) money that a candidate can accept.

- Limits the overall spending for congressional races.

- Reforms campaign advertising.

Republicans are also offering viable suggestions to change the way congressional campaigns are financed.

Sen. Mitch McConnell of Kentucky is expected to introduce legislation that would offset the advantages of incumbency such as staff and the free mailing representatives and senators are allowed.

For years, big business and political action groups have tried to pick candidates for public office. Our elected officials have served two masters and spent more time raising money for their next election than serving the public.

You can't serve the public if you spend all your time raising money.

I think it's time to change the rules and bring government back to the people.

The campaign finance reforms, if genuine rather than cosmetic, will make congressional races more competitive and restore government to a system that is truly of and for the people.

REPORT FROM THE SENATE

by Sen. Vic Frankiewicz Jr.

Senate turns its attention to financing state government

We have passed the halfway point of the 1990 session; the Senate now turns its attention to bills which have been approved by the House of Representatives and to our toughest job of all: financing state government.

State law requires a balanced budget, and I think that is good. We have a particularly difficult situation at this point because actual revenues have been coming in below estimates. With this trend, if we funded state government at the exact level it is now, give state employees a raise, and put $22 million in the equity funding plan to provide quality education for all students, even if they live in poor areas, we would still be $60 million short of our revenue projection.

The $95 million per year education reform package is in addition to this. The alternatives are to cut agency budgets and state services, or to increase revenues; we will probably end up with some combination of these alternatives.

Since I devoted last week's column to the education reform package, I would like to discuss in this week's report some of the other 289 bills which we passed, and are now being considered by the House.

Anti-Drug Abuse
We passed a major anti-drug abuse bill which increases penalties for drug violations, speeds up the trial process, and establishes a number of other measures which will improve the state's ability to fight drugs.

One unusual provision is a tax on illegal drugs. This sounds foolish initially, but it provides an additional way to prosecute drug dealers through tax evasion charges.

Safety and Convenience

One bill requires motor vehicles to have headlights on whenever weather conditions require the constant use of windshield wipers.

Another bill allows car inspection stickers to be issued if the car has a cracked windshield and the damage does not create a hole in the windshield and does not obstruct the driver's vision.

Baktis to run for school board

Frank E. Baktis has qualified to run in the March 3 election for Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board.

Baktis, 43, is employed as a general supply specialist with the Naval Oceanographic Office at John C. Stennis Space Center. He has a bachelor of arts degree from University of Maryland and has been a resident of Hancock County since 1982.

He is currently vice president of Bay High's Band Boosters and is a member of Waveland Civic Association and Rotten Bayou Stamp Club.

The candidate's other civic activities have included serving as president of the employee association at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center at Canandaigua, N.Y.; legislative chairman and treasurer of Bonne Ecole Elementary School in Slidell, La.; historian and treasurer for the National Contract Management Association, New Orleans chapter; president of North Bay Elementary School PTO; founder and president of Bay Junior High PTO; vice-president Shoreline Park Homeowners Association; founding member and president Hancock County Recreation Association; and soccer coach and referee in Bay St. Louis and Slidell.

Baktis and his wife Debbie have three children, Darryn, 20, who is attending Eastern Kentucky University; and Michelle, 16, and Rhonda, 14, both attending Bay High. The family attends Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

"I feel that education is the key to the economic growth in the Bay-Waveland area and Hancock County. Without a top quality education system, our children will not be able to compete in the job market and the area cannot attract industry."

To assist the hearing and speech impaired, we authorized a dual party relay service system to provide them with access to basic telephone service.

Criminal Justice System

One bill sets standard state assessments on a wide range of offenses from traffic violations to felonies. The funds will be used for programs such as law enforcement training, hunter education, correctional facilities, alcohol safety education, and court education programs.

Other bills relating to the criminal justice system include:

allowing circuit clerks to notify by telephone persons drawn for jury service; making money laundering a crime and setting stiff penalties for violations; authorizing financial incentives for persons reporting Medicaid fraud and misuse of other public assistance programs; and prohibiting ticket scalping at events held on state property.

Insurance and Health

One insurance bill would require health insurance policies to cover treatment of mental illness. Another would set up a pool which would require companies, on a rotating basis, to insure persons who are presently unable to obtain conventional insurance.

Some of the health bills include: establishing an Office of Rural Health to attract medical professionals to our rural areas; regulating tanning parlors; providing incentives for hospitals and medical corporations providing free health services for needy children; and requiring abortion clinics to be licensed by the state (currently, they are not subject to any health, safety, and sanitation requirements.)

Hunting

One bill deletes the bag limits of game from the law books and gives the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks the authority to set these limits for game animals, birds and fish.

Another bill changes the expiration date of hunting and fishing licenses to April 30 or the last day of turkey season, whichever is later.

It also increases the penalty for nonresidents hunting or fishing without a license to a fine of not less than $225 and forfeiture of privileges for at least a year for a first offense.

Second and subsequent offenses bring a minimum fine of $500 and three-year forfeiture of privileges.

Another bill allows the feeding of deer on lands not owned by the state or federal government.

Other Business

The high price of car tags has been a big issue on the Coast. Senate Bill 3204 has just been introduced to provide some relief. I will be following this bill closely since so many constituents are interested in the subject.

I would be glad to hear your views on any issue. You may write to me at the Mississippi State Senate, P.O. Box 1018, Jackson, Mississippi 392315, or call me at 359-3770. On weekends, I can be reached at 467-2399.

Lott

Governor Ray Mabus and his wife Julie also have focused on this issue here in Mississippi.

This is important. American jobs are placing greater demands on employees. The average American worker today must have skills at the ninth through 12th grade levels, not the fourth grade level typical after World War II.

The standards are rising still. The growth occupations have increasingly shifted to the service and retail sectors, which require high level problem-solving, communication, reading, writing and math skills.

Illiteracy affects everyone. It affects us either directly or indirectly, but it impacts every American and will continue to do so until the problem is addressed.

Illiteracy affects us through the taxes we pay to support those who are unemployed due to their inability to read and compete in the job market. It affects us through increased prices of goods and services when companies must expend resources to train and retrain employees who lack basic skills.

In some respects, the federal effort in this area has lagged behind state involvement. Some 38 states—Mississippi among them—have implemented literacy initiatives and committed state resources to attack the problem.

This is what makes the Senate's action last week so important. The National Literacy Act will establish the foundation to mobilize a new and comprehensive campaign against illiteracy—a campaign that includes national goals to wipe out illiteracy and reorients national priorities to achieve new programs including model literacy centers, book distribution, an expanded college volunteer network, and a Families for Literacy program within the Department of Education to build more effective intergenerational approaches to reducing illiteracy.

Until recently, the problem of illiteracy in the United States has been the "hidden" or invisible education problem. Too often, people are embarrassed to admit that they cannot read or to seek help.

First Lady Barbara Bush rightfully has been credited with helping to focus our nation on the issue of illiteracy. She repeatedly has spoken out on these goals.

Twenty-four hours after passing the literacy act, the Senate, thanks to the contribution of Senator Thad Cochran, enacted the Educational Excellence Act, President Bush's first major legislative proposal in education. It identifies and rewards educational progress, success and excellence among schools, teachers and students and encourages choice in how parents choose to educate their children.

The Educational Excellence Act is designed to assist the states in improving the quality of the American education system as a whole.

Waveland Players to present 'To Gillian on Her 37th Birthday'

The Waveland Players will present "To Gillian on Her 37th Birthday" at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 1, 2, and 3, at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

The play takes place on an island off the New England coast, where David, a former college professor, has withdrawn to mourn the death of his wife, Gillian, killed a year before in a boating accident.

David's daughter, Rachel, is trying desperately to jar her father back to reality, as are his in-laws, Esther and Paul.

The play begins when Kevin, a former student of David's, joins the family for a weekend on the beach.

Recently divorced, Kevin is,

as she says, "back in the market—the man market."

Bobbie Cotie of Waveland will play the part of David, and Catherine Ohman of Bay St. Louis will play Rachel.

The roles of Esther and Paul will be played by Joanne Northridge of Waveland and James G. Tucker III of Pass Christian.

Maria Tucker of Pass Christian will portray Kevin.

Michelle Dean of Pearlridge has the role of Cindy, Rachel's best friend and David's staunch advocate and supporter.

Caryn Wright of Gautier will play the ghost of Gillian, who flits through David's memory to remind him that she was less than the saint he chooses to remember.

Cotie spends his summers in Minneapolis, Minn., where he is a golf professional and has his own TV show, "Tee to Green."

Ohman and Dean are juniors at Our Lady Academy and Bay High School, respectively. Northridge is supervisor for Gulf Coast Recycling's new center in Waveland.

Jim Tucker practices law in Bay St. Louis and Maria Tucker is director of education for the Career Development Institute in Gulfport. Wright is a pharmacy technician at Hancock Medical Center.

The Players' production will mark stage debuts for Dean and Maria Tucker and a Waveland debut for Wright who has performed with the Walter Anderson Players in Jackson County.

Designers Dick Ehrbright and Dick Fitch have constructed a beach cottage front complete with screened-in porch for the set, and old copies of "The Sea Coast Echo" and "The Sun Herald" were recycled for a 20-foot stretch of paper mache sand dunes.

Director is Nan Ehrbright. Producer is Barbara Jo Fitch. Valerie Fisher and Sally Rodrique will serve as stage managers.

Tickets are $5 at the door.

Coast Electric plants trees on fitness trail

Coast Electric Power Association joined the Bay-Waveland Garden Club in celebrating Arbor Day.

According to spokesman Kathy Fernandez, three river birch trees were donated and planted on the grounds of the Hancock Medical Center fitness trail.

Fernandez said, "The river birch trees were selected for planting because of their unusual and attractive bark. They are also a variety which is fast growing, and in just a few years they will provide a cool, shady nook along the track."

The Hancock Chamber of Commerce is coordinating the fitness trail beautification project with assistance from the Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

will put the plant into layaway status, which would allow it to be put back into use if a war begins.

The first group of layoffs should be completed around mid-August, Burns added.

He said that the layoffs are affected by union contracts with plant workers, so some personnel with more seniority will be able to continue working longer than others with less seniority who would ordinarily be among the last group affected.

With the plant in mothballs, about 10 government employees and 100 Mason-Chamberlain workers will remain at the site to continue maintenance.

Burns has stated that Mason-Chamberlain plans to set up a program to help laid-off employees write resumes, obtain letters of recommendation and seek jobs elsewhere.

children from kindergarten through high school. Without these types of programs many students are turned off by school and are candidates for dropping out of school.

"The school system should be offering after school programs, similar to the ones being offered at Moss Point and Pass Christian. This will help the students who need assistance. The Hancock County Recreation Association is starting an after school program; the school system should work with them to make it a program that meets the needs of the students.

"The school system should be offering a summer school program rather than having our students go to another school system for summer classes.

"Parents should be encouraged to get involved in the school system. We need more parental involvement. Parents who get involved can provide many ideas to improve the school system. This is an asset that is free, no cost to the school system.

"We also need to utilize more volunteers in the school system. There are people who can bring a wealth of experience to the school system. I understand the RSVP program has recently provided volunteers for the high school. This is an excellent start and the program should be expanded."

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

The pancake—or the crepe, the blini, tortilla, flapjack or whatever name by which it's known around the world, varies from nation to nation, but it seems a favorite of all!

In France and in some areas of Belgium, Shrove Tuesday "Fat Tuesday" or Mardi Gras is Crepe Day; and in some of the other countries Shrove Tuesday is known as Pancake Day, a custom said to have begun in medieval England with the baking of "shriving cakes" on that day for a final fling of glorious feasting before the onset of Lenten fasting and abstinence.

So the richer ingredients must be used up! The French brought their Crepe Day custom with them to old New Orleans, and made the crepe their traditional breakfast on Mardi Gras or Fat Tuesday—and in other parts of our country as settlers arrived from other lands, they brought with them their varied Old World traditions of pancakes on Shrove Tuesday.

The French crepe, of course, is nothing more than a thin pancake, and once you try your hand at making crepes, you'll find them versatile all around the clock. They are delicious right from the pan, splashed with melted butter and liberally dusted with powdered sugar, but you can spread them with filling and roll them, or stack them—or do just about anything you wish with them!

Here's my recipe for:

CREPES

3 eggs
1 cup flour
Pinch of salt
1 1/4 cups milk, approximately
4 Tbsp. melted butter

Place the flour in a bowl. Make a hole or well in the center, and place the eggs, salt and approximately half of the milk in it. Starting from the center, blend into a smooth batter, adding the remainder of the milk as you go, until the mixture just coats your wooden spoon and is the consistency of cream, more or less, thinner than the usual pancake batter.

At this point, it's best to let the batter rest for a few hours, in the refrigerator, covered, so that the flour absorbs as much liquid as possible. If necessary, add a bit more liquid when you're ready to cook the crepes, to bring the batter back to its original consistency.

Melt the butter in your pan, and stir it into the batter (if you do it this way, you'll usually not have to keep oiling the skillet as you go). Wipe the skillet and heat it until a drop of water bounces off. Pour in three or four tablespoons of the batter in a thin layer, turn when the top looks dry, and cook the other side.

If the first crepe sticks, scrape it off and eat it yourself, lightly oil the pan and start over. Continue until you've used up all the batter. (12 to 14 crepes).

These crepes are tasty, spread with fruit preserves or jelly of your choice, rolled, and liberally sprinkled with powdered sugar, then placed in a heatproof dish and broiled briefly to brown the sugar.

They're also delicious rolled, then topped with a fresh or frozen strawberry sauce; there are so many ways to enjoy crepes! (Copyright, 1990, Katharine D. M. Caire) ers regarding payment.

After the city pays it, there is a possibility that some of the cost can be recovered if restitution is made one of the conditions of the prisoner's probation, Scafide told the council.

Council members expressed increasing concern over the amount that indigent prisoners with large medical bills could cost in the future and are looking at ways to reduce or avoid such expenses, but no specific suggestions were offered Tuesday.

The council discussed the possibility of releasing some of those arrested on their own recognizance if their medical conditions could result in a large amount of costs to Bay St. Louis, but the only way that could happen is if the person is eligible for such release for other reasons as well, Mayor Edward Favre commented.

Johnson said the city routinely pays $25 per doctor's visit per prisoner and pays for prescription drugs. The money is paid to the county, which has an arrangement with medical personnel who visit the jail.

Favre said later that the cost averages only about $100 to $125 per month because the prisoners are pre-trial detainees rather than long-term inmates.

He said those routine costs are not the ones the council feels may be a hardship to pay. It is the large bills, like the $8,500, and another is expected to occur in the near future as a result of a jail inmate's surgery.

In other business Tuesday, the council:

—Agreed to send a proclamation of condolences to the family of the late Alden Mauffray, a Bay St. Louis hardware store owner who was active in civic affairs for many years;

—Agreed to obtain a fax machine;

—Approved the use of the city parking lot on Beach Boulevard for a Mardi Gras block party sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Business Association;

—Approved a new agreement for operation of the Waveland Animal Shelter;

—Arranged for people working off DUI and other fines to begin cleaning up litter in various parts of the city; and —Decided not to issue transient vendors licenses for Mardi Gras.

The council's next meeting is 7 p.m. March 6 at Bay St. Louis City Hall.

ON PATROL

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

An automobile stolen in Hancock County in October 1989 has been recovered.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda said Terrell Dearman of Lamar County, picked up by Marion County authorities Thursday, has been charged with grand larceny auto theft. He was turned over to Hancock County authorities and has been released on $5,000 bond, Hoda stated.

The vehicle was taken from a parking lot on US-90 and was the property of a Diamondhead resident. Hoda said the car was turned over to the owner's insurance company.

Census to begin in county March 1

On March 1, the first public operation of the 1990 Census will begin in rural counties throughout Mississippi.

Census employees will deliver questionnaires to areas outside major cities to assure all homes are included. Persons receiving these questionnaires will be asked to mail them back by April 1 in the postage-paid envelope provided.

Each package delivered by census employees will include information about how to fill the form and will show a toll-free telephone number for additional help.

Most people in cities and suburbs will receive their census packages by mail about March 23 to be returned by April 1.

On April 26, enumerators will begin calling on addresses in metropolitan areas that do not respond to the census questionnaire.

Local census offices and local employment services are now hiring for these jobs that pay at least $5.50 per hour plus mileage. Approximately 8,500 people will be hired in Mississippi.

The census, conducted every ten years, will determine how many congressional representatives each state gets as well as provide important information for distribution of federal funding for state decisions on roads, hospitals, schools, etc. and for local planning decisions.

Information provided by individuals is confidential and only lump sum data is made public.

SECTION B

TIME OUT

By Dena Bisnette

A verification clinic for U.S. Tennis Association Volvo League players will be conducted Saturday, beginning at 2 a.m., at Bayou Bluff Tennis Club in Gulfport.

For more information, contact the club at 896-9166 for reservations.

Anybody interested in playing semi-pro baseball? Randy Jenkins at 435-6281 is looking for sponsors, coaches and players for semi-pro baseball teams along the coast.

Jenkins said he would like to get as many teams started as possible and would be interested in helping organize one from the Bay St. Louis area, Biloxi, Gulfport and other coast cities.

New teams would become part of the Gulf Coast League, which also includes about six teams in the Mobile, Ala., area already.

"It would be great if we had more teams over in this area. We wouldn't have to travel so far to play," he said.

Semi-pro baseball does not target players of a particular age group, but attracts mostly players who have passed the age of 18 and have become ineligible to play in the other baseball programs available in most towns.

Hopefully, there will be a dry weekend soon—like maybe this Saturday for the second annual Arbor Day 5K Run, which will be Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m. at Biloxi City Hall.

The race is sponsored by the Environmental Advisory Board, City of Biloxi and McDonalds. Gulf Coast Running Club, of course, is host.

As usual, there will be a one-mile health run and walk for those who prefer the shorter events.

For more information, contact Lindo Sullivan at 832-6701 or Deanna Nuwer, 388-4546.

Would you like to give a longer race a shot? The 12th annual Gulf Coast Classic, a 10K event, is Saturday, March 3, at the Naval Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport.

This one has a two-mile accompanying run/walk, which will begin at 9 a.m. The 10K follows at 9:15. Race day registration will be accepted from 7:30 a.m. to 8:45 a.m.

The mail-in registration deadline is Tuesday and forms are available locally at Pizza Hut, which is a sponsor along with Bud Light.

However, late registration will also be available at a pre-race social Friday, March 2, from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. at Best Western Motel on Highway 90 in Gulfport. Complimentary drinks and pizza will be served.

The event will also include a post-race social with Pizza Hut spaghetti dinners for all runners with race numbers.

For more information, contact Lindo Sullivan of Gulf Coast Running Club, at 832-6071 or Mager Varnado at 863-1226.

If you're expecting to be in Jackson on March 10, the Mississippi Agriculture and Forestry Museum is having its second annual Turkey Calling and Owl Hooting Championship from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. that day.

Admission will be $3 for adults, $2.75 for senior citizens and $1 for children six to 18.

Features of the event are scheduled to include turkey calling, owl hooting, exhibits, mini seminars, turkey calling videos, taxidermy displays and a museum tour. Refreshments will be available.

The museum, also the home of the National Agriculture Aviation Museum, is at 1150 Lakeland Drive. For more details, call 354-6113.

Gale Force Winds Track and Field Club in Gulfport is sponsoring a track and field meet for all ages beginning at 10 a.m. March 3 at the Gulfport High School track facility.

Entry fees vary from $5 to $12 depending on the number of events entered, and events include shot put, pole vault, discus, javelin, 55-meter dash, 100-meter dash, 200-meter dash, 400-meter dash, 800-meter dash and the 3200-meter run.

Ribbons will be awarded to the top three finishers in each event and T-shirts will be provided to all entrants.

For registration information, contact Jim Rose at 864-3278 or Ed Wheeler at 832-1988.

Hawkettes drop from play-offs, lose 54-45 to Lawrence County

Hancock North Central's Hawkettes are the Division 8 Class 4-A women's champions but are out of the play-off.

Hancock moved into the opening round of the South State tournament against Lawrence County, runner-up in Division 7, on Monday night, but dropped a hard-fought game 54-45 despite a home court advantage.

The loss closed Hancock's season with a 19-13 mark.

Hancock opened the game against the Lawrence County Lady Cougars by grabbing an early two-point lead, but the Lawrence girls rallied by hitting their nest five shots from the field, pushing that effort into a 19-5 lead just before halftime.

The Hawkettes were able to hit with eight out of their 15 shots during the first half, taking the lead again when point guard Shawntel Cuevas scored with little more than a minute left in the second quarter.

Lawrence responded with a layup that was matched for Hancock by Stacy Ladner, but a couple of free throws for the Lady Cougars just prior to the halftime buzzer took the Hawkettes' lead away.

Fighting their opponent's halftime advantage of 31-23, the Hawkettes were troubled by turnovers. With the score posted at 48-41 with only four minutes left in the game, Hancock's Rachel Moran contributed the second of her three-point shots to the game.

When Lawrence County responded by scoring four points, Moran provided another three-pointer and Ladner was successful on a free throw attempt.

Their efforts failed to generate enough points, however, despite the fact that Lawrence scored on only two of five free throw attempts in the final minutes of the game.

Ladner and Moran led scoring for the Hawks with 15 points each, followed by Jennifer Necaise with eight rebounds and five assists.

To advance into the play-offs.

Hancock conquered three-time defending division champion d'Iberville in a home game last week, with Moran breaking a 35-35 tie to give the Hawks a permanent lead.

Moran led the game with 14 points, followed by Stacey Ladner with 12 points and nine rebounds. Cuevas contributed five steals and Eve Ladner was credited with four assists.

Hancock, SSC players honored

Several local basketball players have been honored following their performances in the Division 8 Class 4-A championship tournament.

In the ninth grade boys' competition, in which St. Stanislaus was runner-up to St. Martin, Derek Inkol of St. Stanislaus was named Offensive Player of the Year.

Jeff Bishop, Gene Moran and Inkol were selected to the All-Division team for St. Stanislaus. Representing Hancock North Central on the team was Darrin Acker.

Hancock and St. Stanislaus each had three players who received honorable mention. Jamie Blakely, Loren Crow and Gary Hall were named to represent the Hawks while Evan Morris, Peter Rittion and Kevin Northrop were the Rock-A-Chaw players selected.

The eighth grade boys fared better, coming out as champions by beating d'Iberville.

The Eighth Grade Hawks'

coach, Larry Johnson, was named Coach of the Year. Kendall Mitchell was chosen as Most Valuable Player.

Hancock's Julius Jackson was named Co-defensive Player of the Year along with St. Martin's Eric Martin.

All-Division team members included Kendall Mitchell, Kelton Ladner, Julius Jackson and Chris Stiglet of Hancock North Central and Shawn Williams of St. Stanislaus.

Hancock Players receiving honorable mention include Kyle Ladner, Lance Wedgeworth and Scott Davis. Also named were Ray Ladner and Jason Jones of Hancock.

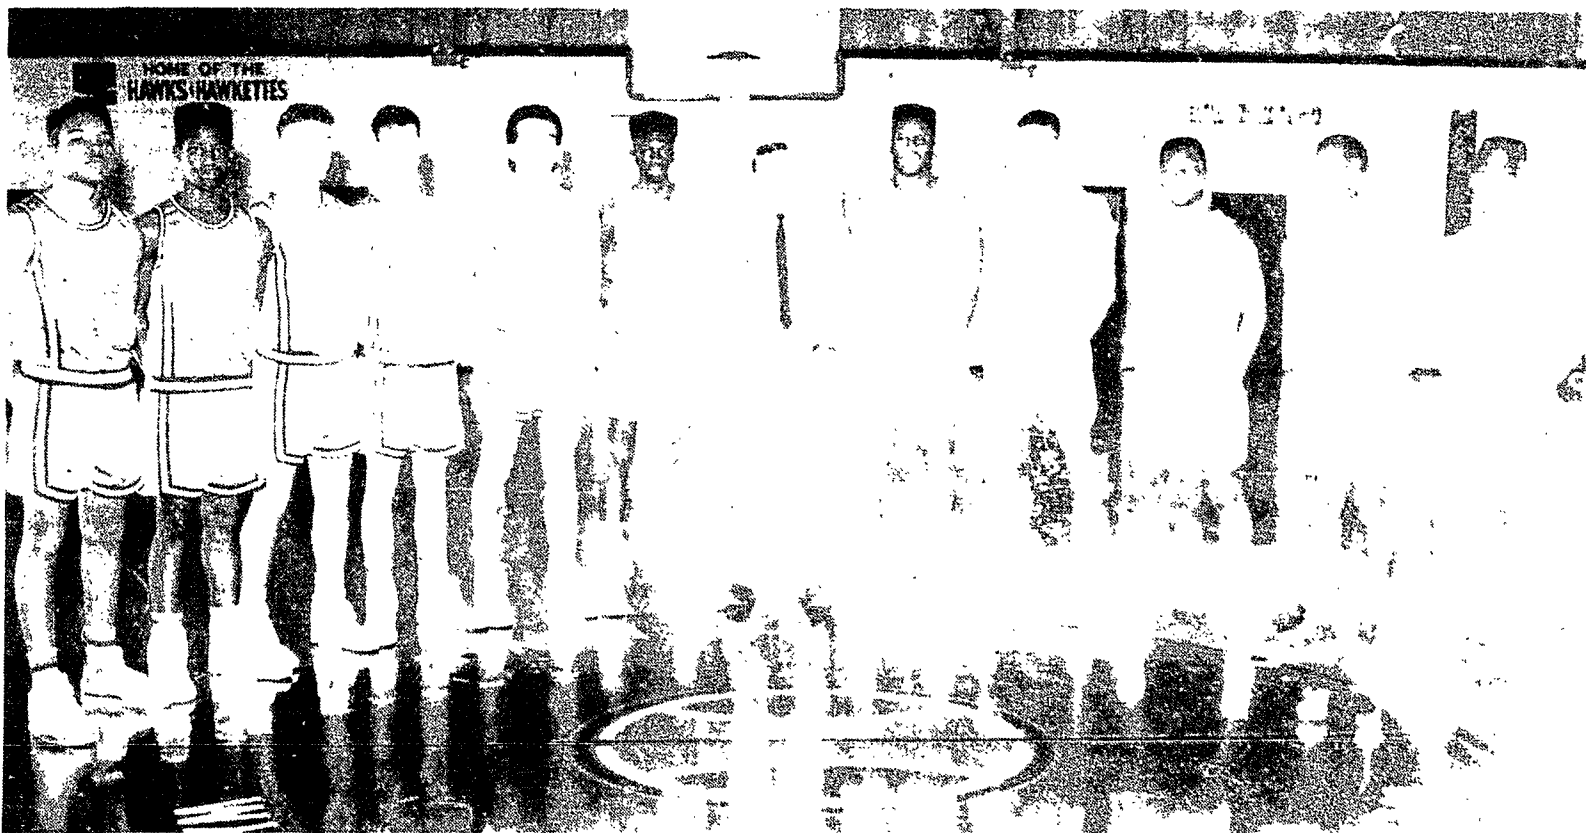

In the girls' competition, Hancock North Central won both the eighth and ninth grade championships, beating St. Martin and Long Beach.

In ninth grade competition, Hancock's Sara Sones was named Most Valuable Player and Liz Forrest was named Offensive Player of the Year. Rhonda Doyle of the Hawks was named Co-defensive Player of the Year with St. Martin's Dana Quave.

Hancock players on the All-Division team included Liz Forrest, Sara Sones, LaShea Ladner and Rhonda Doyle.

In the eighth grade division, Kristi McKay was Most Valuable Player and Heather Kopf was Defensive Player of the Year. Lady Hawks named to the All-Division team included Kristi McKay, Vickie Cuevas, Heather Kopf and Chellie Ladner.

Diamondhead pro-am deadline is March 5

BY DENA BISNETTE

March 5 at 5 p.m. is the registration deadline for a pro-am doubles invitational tournament being hosted by Diamondhead Tennis Association and resident pro Magnus Eklund.

The tournament will be Sunday, March 11, and will feature an international field of 20 pros along with 20 amateurs. Entrants will be guaranteed four one-set matches.

Entry fee is $30 and includes four matches, awards, free beer and a special invitational T-shirt. Checks should be made payable to Eklund and sent to him at Diamondhead Tennis World, 5300 Diamondhead Circle, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 255-2525 and asking for Tennis World.

The pro-am begins at 9 a.m. with a player auction, followed by a 9:30 start. An awards ceremony is scheduled for 4:30 p.m.

Among Mississippi pro players Eklund has scheduled for the tournament are University of Southern Mississippi Tennis Coach Teddy Viator of Hattiesburg; Alex Behar of Jackson, ranked first in Colombia as a junior and first in Mississippi as an adult; former Mississippi State University Coach Rod Hertzog of Meridian; and former Davis coach for the Philippines Mackey Dominguez of Gulfport.

Also included are Michael Hammet and Keven Palmiero, both of Hattiesburg; and Herman Pappas of Laurel.

Other pros from the U.S. include Brett Gould, Enterprise, Ala.; Brian Jones, Nashville, Tenn.; Hugh Manning, Huntsville, Ala.; Jim Mortgat, Birmingham, Ala.; Pat Rheine, Birmingham, Ala.; and Ronnie Holmes, Nashville.

International players scheduled to participate include Donovan September of South Africa, ranked number three in the world as a junior; and Pat

Serrett of Australia, a two-time NCAA champion at Arkansas who has been ranked in the World Top 100; Joakim Appelquist and Johan Eriksson, both of Sweden; Neil Hutchinson, England; and Antonio Rezie, Venezuela.

Spectators are welcome at the event, which will be played on Tennis World's eight Rubico clay courts. There is no admission charge for spectators.

Park commission seeks summer job applicants

Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission will be accepting resumes for summer employment until 5 p.m. March 8.

Applicants must be students enrolled in high school or college and must be residents of Bay St. Louis. They must be 16 years old or older to qualify.

Any workers from last year must reapply.

Resumes must include the applicant's name, address, telephone number, date of birth, social security number, previous jobs, three references and name of school the applicant is currently attending.

They may be sent to Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds at P.O. Box 307, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520 or brought to Park Director Frank Pernicaro.

For further information, call Pernicaro at 467-5626.

MICAH NECAISE

Necaise honored as BHS scholar-athlete

Everett Michael "Micah" Necaise, Jr., a Bay High Senior, has been selected as one of Mississippi's two recipients of the 1990 AAU/MARS Milky Way High School All-American Award for his exceptional scholastic, athletic, and community achievements.

A $750 scholarship from M&M/Mars will also be awarded to the college of his choice. Bay High will receive a $250 gift in recognition for its role in helping Micah to succeed in reaching his goals.

He was selected by the faculty as "Student of the Month" during his four years of high school. He is a two-year member of the National Honor Society and served as president of his junior class.

As an active member of several campus organizations, Micah has helped with blood drives, raised funds for the Hancock County Food Pantry, attended a Leadership Conference Against Drugs, and collected money for the March of Dimes by placing third in Walk America.

He is presently working with special education students in the district preparing them for Special Olympic Basketball competition.

Micah is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Michael Necaise Sr. of Bay St. Louis.

Bradford, Necaise, McCraney brothers were PRC standouts

For a number of football players, Pearl River Community College is a starting point for more good things down the road.

Within the last two years, PRC has sent 15 players on to play football at four-year schools.

Two years ago Langston University in Oklahoma signed four Wildcat players who became starters there, two earning all-conference honors—Jerry Rush of Peachtree, Ga., who was a wingback at Hinds and fullback at Langston, and Marshall Roberts of Covington, La., a defensive tackle.

Greg Bonds of Paducah, Ky., who was an offensive guard for PRC, and a center at Langston, and William Earl Harper of Bossier, La., who was a fullback at PRC and tailback at Langston, also started.

Wendell Smith of New Orleans, La., a middle linebacker, earned All-SWAC honors after moving on to Prairie View A&M in Texas two years ago.

Oregon Tech got two starters from the 1987 group. Larry Copeland and Bassfield earned NAIA Division II All-American Honorable Mention as well as being a unanimous first-team Columbia Football Association Mount Hood League selection as defensive back this semester, while Don Powell of Shreveport, La., earned CFA honorable mention honors as a wide receiver/punter.

Chris Bates of Poplarville joined the team a year later and earned a starting spot at defensive back.

Devon Rogers of New Orleans, another member of the '87 group, earned a spot as starting guard at Southern (La.).

Delta State got two starters in '87—Jordan Bradford of Bay St. Louis was a member of the all-conference and second-team All-Mississippi squads as an offensive tackle this past season, while Buddy Stephens of Huntsville, Ala., was a starter at center. Greg Necaise of Bay St. Louis, who played for PRC during the '88 season, racked up a slew of honors in his first year at Northwestern State University (La.), including being named newcomer of the year among Louisiana college players earning a place on the All-Louisiana team and a spot on the second team All-Southland Conference roster.

Millsaps found Trace and Stace McCraney (brothers from Bay St. Louis) at PRC. Trace, who played for PRC during the '87 season, started at linebacker for Millsaps this season, while Stace, who played at PRC the year before, was a place kicker.

Brad Greer, a linebacker from Poplarville, started this past season at Kentucky's Cumberland College.

Mike Nelson, PRC's coach, said it means a lot to his program to have his players go and represent themselves, both in the classroom and on the field at four-year schools.

"It shows that they can come here and go on and play and further their educations," he said.

Necaise, who was second on his team with 96 tackles, including 13 sacks, said he has adjusted well to life in north Louisiana and his role in the defensive line. At PRC he was a linebacker, but four games into the season at NSU the staff moved him into the line with the responsibility of putting pressure on the quarterback.

Bates said he has also had to make some adjustments. He said in community college football teams tend to run more, while in his current league, teams like to pass. That just leaves more chances for Cope-land to get involved, however.

In the last two seasons he has picked off 12 passes and broken up 22 more.

In two years as a receiver, Powell has averaged 15.4 yards per catch with three touchdowns and averaged 35 yards per punt.

ON ETV

THIS OLD HOUSE

Yankee ingenuity and public television persistence pay off when "This Old House" tours the completed concord, Mass. barn at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 24, on Mississippi ETV.

Host Steve Thomas and Jean Lemmon, editor in chief of Country Home magazine, tour the finished barn, which has been completely rebuilt from the ground up and decorated by the magazine for a photo spread for the October 1990 issue.

Next stop for the "This Old House" crew is Sante Fe for the renovation of a traditional southwestern adobe home.

Wildcat baseball team to field new players

Pearl River Community College's baseball team will be trying to earn its third straight trip to post-season play, but it will be making the attempt with a lot of new faces.

The Wildcats have only five returning players from last season's squad which posted a 29-19 record and finished second in the state tournament to Hinds, advancing for the second straight year to the Region 23 tournament.

Three of those players are returning starters—first baseman Ty Henry of Baton Rouge, La., third baseman Jimmy Miller of Purvis and shortstop Martin Poche of Baton Rouge.

Catcher Jason Rowland of Sibley, La., split time at catcher last season, and right fielder Devan Mohr of Hattiesburg will be returning this season.

coach, said that with a young team it is difficult to determine how the different players will work into their positions.

In the fall season, the squad played 500 ball, but he said the team has matured since then. He added that the first part of the season will be spent continuing that maturing process and working out the lineup.

The entire pitching staff will be made up of freshmen, including Bryan Carroll of Picayune, Scott Dease of Columbia, Patrick James of Hattiesburg, David Magee of Oak Grove, Scott Morgan of Columbia, and Dewayne Stockstill of Picayune.

Freshmen Brad Gilmore of Vidor, Texas, and Jody Watkins of Cecilia, La., will be fighting for the second base slot, and freshmen Chris Charbonet of Baton Rouge and Murray Douglas of Port Alberni, British Columbia, will be battling for center field.

Brett Rossler of Toledo, Ohio, should start in left field, fellow freshmen Greg Elliot of Vancouver, British Columbia, Brady Chauvin of Baton Rouge and Doug Power of Bay St. Louis will be trying to earn playing time at short stop, first and catcher, respectively.

Henderson Point boat launch, other 1990 construction projects scheduled

Construction of a new boat launch at Henderson Point near Pass Christian heads the list of eight water-access projects funded through the Bureau of Marine Resources scheduled for completion in 1990.

The projects are scheduled to cost almost a half-million dollars.

Water access projects are construction projects, such as piers and boat launches, are funded by federal grants, matched with local money, and designed to provide the public with greater access to the water.

the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum and Convention Center. The proposed project will cost $64,250 in federal and local money.

—Construction of transient boat slips at Pascagoula Harbor. The boat slips will serve as temporary docking for boat owners. Cost of the project is estimated at $12,000.

—Construction of a $40,000 fishing pier at Pass Christian harbor. The proposed pier will be located at the southwest corner of the harbor.

—Repair of the Anderson

Management Section and $40,000 in funds contributed by local governments.

The St. Martin boat launch, located where Brittany Avenue crosses St. Martin Bayou.

The project cost $40,000 in federal money and $17,000 in local money.

—The Cedar Point boat launch, located in Bay St. Louis at the intersection of Beach includes construction of a two-lane boat ramp, two docking piers and a large parking area.

The six-month long project was budgeted for $37,500 in federal money and $12,500 in local money.

Other boat launches completed in December include:

—The Gulfport Lake boat launch, located on Gulfport Lake near the Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant. The project included construction of a four-lane boat ramp with docking piers, a small fishing pier and a large parking area.

Boulevard and the Jourdan River. This project involved the construction of a single-lane boat ramp to replace an old ramp, two docking piers and a paved parking area.

The project was budgeted for a total of $39,000 in federal and local money.

—The Bayou Talla boat launch, located at the end of Comanche Street in the Jourdan River Shores community in Hancock County. The project, which cost a total of $32,000, involved the construction of a new concrete boat ramp to replace an old one.

Gary Cuevas, marine program manager in the BMR Coastal Management Division, said the federal money for these projects comes from grants funded by the Sport Fish Recreation Act. Under the act, fishermen pay taxes on all fishing gear—lures, motors, rods and reels, etc. The tax money is used to enhance recreational fishing.

"These (water access) projects are ways that fishermen's tax money comes back to them," Cuevas said.

Cuevas said BMR officials have applied for $411,000 to complete 1990 water access projects.

Application for federal money is made each year to the federal Office of Ocean and Coastal Management and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The $70,000 Henderson Point project will involve construction of a new boat ramp, a fishing pier, a docking pier and a paved parking area.

Other scheduled 1990 construction projects include:

—A 500-foot extension of the West Biloxi fishing pier south of Park Boat Launch off Front Beach near Lake Yazoo in Pascagoula. The proposed $10,000 project would involve repair of the existing boat ramps and piers.

—Construction of a new boat launch at River Park in Pascagoula. The $47,000 project will involve construction of a new boat ramp and two docking piers.

—Repair of the I-110 boat launch in Iberville. The proposed project will cost $60,000 and involve repairing and improving existing ramps and piers by extending the ramp and dredging around the ramp site.

—Repair of the Washington Street fishing pier off the front beach in Bay St. Louis. This $29,000 project will be a renovation of the existing pier.

A boat launch on St. Martin Bayou in Jackson County is among four boat launches completed under the water-access program in December.

The four launches represent $122,000 in federal funds administered by the BMR Coastal

Sea Grant Consortium awarded $910,000

The Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium has been awarded a $910,000 federal grant for a 1990 program of marine research, education and outreach activities, announced Dr. James I. Jones, Sea Grant director.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce awarded the grant as continued institutional support for the consortium, a Sea Grant college.

With $708,856 in support committed by Mississippi and Alabama member institutions and by the State of Mississippi, the 1990 matching funds program totals $1,618,856.

The Mission of Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant, one of 29 Sea Grant programs in coastal and Great Lakes states and Puerto Rico, is to promote understanding, appropriate development and wise use of coastal and marine resources through the cooperative efforts of government, academic institutions and industry.

The 1990 program supports 11 research, education and public service projects conducted through the consortium's eight member institutions.

Mississippi consortium members are Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, Mississippi State University, University of Mississippi and University of Southern Mississippi. Alabama members are Auburn University, University of Alabama, University of Alabama in Birmingham and University of South Alabama.

The director noted that current research projects supported by Sea Grant are in keeping with the consortium's performance as a high quality, extremely cost-effective federal matching funds program.

"With our limited budget, we must emphasize subjects of public benefit," Dr. Jones said.

Projects include studies of stone crabs in the northern Gulf, the role in the food chain of algae in seagrass beds, new environmentally safe chemicals to fight marine corrosion, hard-bottom environments—good fish habitat—on the Mississippi-Alabama continental shelf, genetic engineering procedures for developing marine algae with improved nutritional value and economical laboratory methods for producing seedlings for restoration of environmentally critical seagrass beds and coastal plant communities.

The 1990 grant also supports the Sea Grant legal program which investigates key legal and policy issues affecting marine and coastal resources.

Education projects include a fellowship program for graduate students conducting marine-related research through consortium member institutions, the popular Mississippi field trip program "Project Marine Discovery" for school groups, grades kindergarten through 12, and a marine studies enrichment program for Alabama teachers and students.

The grant also makes possible the continuation of the Mississippi Sea Grant Advisory Service and Alabama Sea Grant Extension, programs responsible for transferring research results to the public. Operated in conjunction with each state's Cooperative Extension Service programs, the advisory and extension offices are located in Biloxi and Mobile.

Bassin' with the pros

Follow these tips for better boat battery performance

To keep your boat battery in top condition, you must take the care necessary for long life and maximum performance.

It is a well known fact that professional boat batteries are made of lead and are designed for long life. They are built to last and are designed to handle the most demanding conditions.

When you buy a boat battery, you should look for a battery that has a long life and is designed for maximum performance.

There are many factors that can affect the performance of a boat battery. These factors include the age of the battery, the way it is used, and the way it is maintained.

One of the most important factors is the way the battery is maintained. This includes checking the electrolyte level, cleaning the terminals, and keeping the battery in a cool, dry place.

Another important factor is the way the battery is used. This includes avoiding deep discharges and avoiding overcharging.

By following these tips, you can ensure that your boat battery will last for many years and provide maximum performance.

For more information on boat batteries, contact your local boat dealer or a professional battery service.

Remember, a well-maintained boat battery is essential for a safe and enjoyable boating experience.

So, take the time to care for your boat battery and you'll be out on the water in no time.

Ray sets DSU swim record

When all the water had no more wakes following the second New South Intercollegiate Swim League championships Saturday night, Delta State University had set 23 men and women's team and individual swimming records.

Coach Ronnie Mayers' women finished second and the men third in the seven-team field which concluded its three-day league meet. Five DSU men and four women were also named to the All-League team.

The NSISL championship ended the season for the DSU swimmers which posted a 11-1 women's meet record and a 10-2 ledger for the men.

Delta State men's results: 200-Yard Medley Relay: 3. Keith Salter, Eric Jewkes, Lonnie Ray, Redd Gilbert, 1:40.86*.

500 Free: 8. Phillip Vowell, 5:13.54; 10. Jason Sides, 5:23.38.

200 Individual Medley: 2.

Jewkes, 2:00.87*; 6. Ray, 2:07.09; 10. Mike Mahoney, 800 Free Relay: 2. Jewkes, Ray, Salter, Gilbert, 7:14.62*.

100 Butterfly: 3. Ray, 54.45. 400 Medley Relay: 3. Salter, Jewkes, Ray, Gilbert, 3:31.99*.

200 Butterfly: 3. Ray, 2:01.22*.

400 Free Relay: 3. Jewkes, Ray, Salter, Gilbert, 3:12.68*.

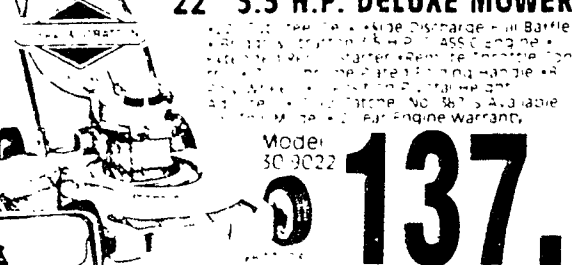

DSU swimmers on men's all league team are Tedd Gilbert, Eric Jewkes, Lonnie Ray, Keith Salter and Chris Howell.

BOB FOSSE

Bob Fosse, who has won a Tony and a Pulitzer Prize, is the first American dancer to be named "America's greatest dancer" in the one hour "America's Greatest Dancer" special on ETV. Fosse's performances at 9 p.m. on Feb. 23, on Mississippi.

The telecast is a tribute to Fosse's career and on stage and screen. Fosse's directorial debut, "The Gypsy" (1987) at age 60.

In addition to Miss Verdon's privileged insights into the man and his work, "Bob Fosse: Steam Heat" features much rare archival material, including two decades' worth of self-proclaimed "hooper" in brutally honest on-camera interviews, early TV appearances, behind-the-scenes directorial footage and video tapes recorded at his Palace Theater memorial.

Generous selections from his films and television work complete the program.

Hancock County Vo-Tech VICA Club places first in district competition

The Mississippi Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) is a student organization composed of young men and women enrolled in trade, industrial, technical and health education courses and is the only national organization whose purpose is to serve vocational students.

Members of the Pearl River Community College, Hancock County Vo-Tech Center, VICA Club, won eight awards out of 11 contest entries at the District V VICA Contests held Thursday, Feb. 1 at Pearl River Community College in Poplarville. Club members won three first place gold medals, two second place silver medals and three third place bronze medals.

Jessica Edwards won first place in extemporaneous speaking.

She is a senior at Hancock North Central and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Edwards of Fenton.

Angela Hurt placed first in prepared speech.

She is a junior at Bay High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Hurt of Bay St. Louis.

Van Guaraggi won first place in the automotive service technology contest.

Van is a senior at Hancock North Central and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Guaraggi of Lakeshore.

Nicole Shaw earned a second place medal in the job interview contest.

She is a senior at Hancock North Central and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shaw of Perkinston.

Shane Barber placed second in the sheet metal contest.

Shane is a senior at Hancock North Central and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barber of Dedeaux.

Michele Kelley won a third place medal while competing in architectural drafting.

Michele is a senior at Bay High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kelley of Waveland.

Vange Vizzini placed third in the machine drafting contest.

She is a senior at Hancock North Central and is the daughter of Joseph Vizzini, who resides in Clermont Harbor.

Davy Anderson placed third in welding competition. Davy is a senior at Hancock North Central and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Anderson of Perkinston.

Competing in other areas were Dwight Guillot Jr., electronics technology; Jason Shaw, precision machining; and Chip Smith, residential wiring.

Out of 13 schools which were awarded medals, the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center placed first in overall competition, winning a total of eight medals.

The VICA Clubs from the Harrison County Vo-Tech Center and the George County Vo-Tech Center each were awarded six medals to tie for second place behind the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center VICA Club.

Al Bourgeois, director of the vo-tech center stated: "We are extremely proud of the outstanding accomplishments of this youth organization. Some of the schools in this district have three times the number of our vocational programs and enrollment."

"Additionally, student involvement in VICA Club activities and the success of those activities are taken into consideration whenever a vocational school is evaluated by the State Department of Education."

Students placing first, second and third in district competition will participate in state competition in Jackson on Apr. 9-11.

Girl Scouts

Although best known for selling cookies, this youth program develops lifeskills

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following questions and answers were provided by the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council to make the community more aware of the role of scouting as a productive youth organization.

Q. Who can be a Girl

Scout?

A. Girl Scouting is for girls ages five through 17. Members come from every racial, ethnic, religious and socioeconomic group.

Q. As adults, who can be a Girl Scout?

A. Men and women, 18 years and older make up the adult membership of the largest voluntary organization for girls in the world.

While men are active in a variety of volunteer and employed staff roles, the importance of a female role model remains especially important to young girls as they develop the decision-making and planning abilities they will need as women.

Q. What is the Girl Scout program?

A. Quite simply, it is a secondary education. It is based on an ethical code, teaches good citizenship, stresses the importance of moral leadership, and helps girls develop critical life skills. The program is designed to serve the needs and interests of girls, to develop a positive self-image in all environments.

According to Dr. Thomas A. Shannon, executive director of the National School Board Association: "In practice and philosophy, the Girl Scout program is an important adjunct to the instructional program of both public and private schools. This adds a dimension not available through school alone in raising young girls to responsible adulthood."

Q. Specifically, what does a Girl Scout troop do to develop decision making or leadership?

A. Even the youngest Girl Scout, the Daisy, participates in some form of self-government in her troop. Girls are encouraged to speak up about their ideas and to take turns expressing their opinions.

The troop leader provides guidance in working through ideas and developing plans. Girls are given the opportunity to take risks such as doing the grocery shopping for the troop's next camp out, and learn from their mistakes such as eating peanut butter sandwiches all weekend because they forgot to put the groceries in the car when they left!

By the time a Girl Scout reaches her Senior Girl Scouting years, ages 15-17, she is confidently making decisions that affect her adult life. Whether it's decisions about education and career paths, or saying no to drugs or teenage pregnancy, she feels prepared to take the lead in her own life.

Q. Why is camping an important aspect of Girl Scouting?

A. An event held at a Girl Scout camp offers a group experience that can develop and strengthen special aspects of a ram have been touched upon in this article. The activities offered through the Girl Scout program are numerous and diverse.

Still as many people are asked what they think of when they think of Girl Scouts, the overwhelming response is "cookies." It's a good thing that so many folks like the product so much. After all, more than 60 percent of the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council's operating revenue comes from this once-a-year sale. This is also the primary resource for troops to earn funds for their individual projects such as trips, troop equipment, and community service projects.

Q. How much money does a Girl Scout troop earn through the cookie sale?

A. Most troops earn an average of $250 or more. The troop, the girls with the guidance of their troop leader, decide how to spend their cookie money.

Most often, before the cookie sale even begins, a troop will decide what they would like to do. They research the costs of their dreams and set goals for the quantity of cookies the troop must sell to achieve the goal.

Many troops will also budget for the purchase of badges, pins and other recognitions earned throughout the year, their national membership dues for the next year, and maintain a

CEHS names Duke candidates

Five seventh grade students at Coast Episcopal High School have been selected as candidates in the Duke University Talent Identification Program.

These students are Mimi Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ward; Marty VanderNoot, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. Craig VanderNoot; Bobby Garrett, son of Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Robert Garrett; and Sally Ann Cassidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cassidy, all of Gulfport, and Tim Gormley, son of Major and Mrs. Thomas Gormley of Biloxi.

The students had test scores above the 97th percentile on the California Achievement Test or other standard achievement, aptitude or mental ability tests.

The Duke University program focuses on exceptionally bright children in 16 states of the southeast, southwest and midwest United States.

The objectives of the program are to identify very bright children at an early age, to assist in their educational development, to follow and nurture their talent during the critical middle and high school years, to assist in their placement in colleges and universities which have programs to match the students' potential, and to develop an effective research effort to help understand the nature of gifted adolescents.

The students took the ACT or the SAT in January. These entrance tests are the same tests which are administered to college-bound juniors and seniors.

Discovering college financial aid sources

By Judy Goddard
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

As the cost of higher education continues to rise, funding educational ranks high among a family's financial concerns. Financial aid is a resource for paying these educational costs.

Financial aid usually pays for tuition and fees and in some cases also may be used for other educational expenses. It may be awarded in four forms.

Grants are awards that are not repaid. Scholarships are awards based on academic achievement or special skills. Work-study programs allow students to earn money by working while attending school. Loans are money borrowed for educational expenses with interest. To receive financial aid, a student must file an application and a financial need analysis document with their chosen school.

Schools may make awards based on academic excellence, special skills or talents. Other aid programs make awards based on financial need. Financial need is the difference between the student's and/or their family's ability to pay and the cost of attending the school. Only the school's financial aid office is authorized to offer a financial aid package to a student.

Information about financial aid programs are available from several sources. The school's financial aid office is the best source of what is available at that school. In addition to federal and state sponsored programs, the school may have institutional scholarships available only to students attending that school.

The office also will identify which of three Mississippi need analysis documents the school requires and can assist with questions applicants have about applying. A student can contact a school's financial aid office before application for admission has been made.

The Mississippi Guarantee Student Loan Agency has free publications about financial aid programs available in the state. "Cash for College" described the federal and state assistance programs. It gives information about each program's requirements and students' qualifications and on overview of how to apply for financial aid.

"Directory of Contacts and Programs" is a listing of universities, community colleges and training schools in Mississippi that participate in the guarantee student loan program.

The publication identifies the federal and state programs offered by the schools, the need analysis document accepted by the school and priority deadlines for applications.

"The Student Guide" provides information about federal programs.

To receive any or all of the publications, contact the Mississippi Guarantee Student Loan Agency, P.O. Box 342, Jackson, MS 39205-0342. Telephone numbers are (601) 982-6663 or in-state watts 1-800-327-2980.

Many civic, professional and social organizations offer financial assistance to individual meeting the organizations' qualifications. To receive more information, contact the organization directly.

Poetry association seeks contest entries

Poetry prizes worth $44,000 will be awarded to 608 poets by the American Poetry Association in 1990. The association will sponsor four separate contests this year, doubling its efforts to discover new talent.

Each contest awards a $1,000 grand prize, a $500 first prize, and a total of $11,000 in prizes to 152 winners. All adults who write poetry are welcome to enter.

For the current contest, poets may send up to six poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CO-26, 250-A Potrero St., P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061. Poems must be postmarked by March 31 to meet the deadline. A new contest starts April 1.

Each poem will also be considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a hardcover collection of contemporary verse.

Since 1981 the association has awarded $165,000 in contest prizes to 3,100 poets.

THIS LAND IS YOUR LAND

By Joe Pilet
Friendship Oak DAR
Conservancy Chairman

Recycling emphasizes our commitment to the environment

The word "environmentalist" has worked its way into our daily conversation. That's good. These persons who are working toward solving our problems, such as water pollution, the exhaustion of natural resources, community growth, etc. do serve our thanks and our cooperation.

In our rapidly changing world, perhaps it would be prudent to ask ourselves what we can personally do to keep that which is good and change that which is not.

The word "recycle" is also a relatively new word in our conversation of today, and by both vocal and printed word we are becoming more aware of our responsibility.

Whether we recognize it or not, a young reporter named Patrick Peterson has done much to better our environment. There is now much less trash, old bottles, cans, and papers in evidence on our streets, roadsides and vacant lots.

Peterson's constant reports explain the progress being made. It is encouraging! For whatever reason, the trips to the recycling centers pay off.

Selling trash for cash brings money for a favorite charity—or for some personal use if one chooses. The centers have helped to create more landfill space.

And whether we recognize it or not, the news media, press, television and radio, has played a dramatic role in public education and awareness.

The rains came. And the rains continue, but they have not dampened the enthusiasm of those involved in tree planting on both public and private lands. Building a more beautiful tomorrow is a worthy ambition. Magnolias, red maples, birch are a few of the trees recently planted, and there are more to come.

In search for an unusual tree a letter of inquiry went out to James Henderson who lives in Raymondville, Texas, seeking a young mesquite tree.

Here is his response: "There is some concern about over cutting the mesquite down here. The people love to barbecue and love mesquite smoke for the fire. Conservationists are asking people to bring seed to the Park and Recreation Department so they can plant them."

Henderson personally gathered and sent seed. With a bit of luck we may have a mesquite tree in our future.

The power of collective efforts is impressive! It would take a long, long list to give the names of all those who have joined the environmentalists but you know who you are and that your efforts and donations are gratefully appreciated.

Miracles are happening every day. Trash turned into treasures. Trees rescued from the chain saw. A growing awareness of our Deep South heritage.

A reminder: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

small balance in their treasury to sustain them until the next cookie sale.

Q. If troops budget for their own activities, why does the Girl Scout council need money?

A. The Gulf Pines Council provides the opportunity of Girl Scouting in 15 counties in south Mississippi. A staff of 18 professional and clerical employees provide services to more than 2,600 adult volunteers annually to insure that every girl is given the opportunity to join Girl Scouts, that volunteers are trained to deliver the Girl Scout program to girls, and that opportunities beyond the troop setting are provided to meet the needs and interests of girls.

Through the efforts of the staff and volunteers more than 7,000 girls enjoy Girl Scouting annually in South Mississippi.

The Gulf Pines Council provides its membership a 339-acre Girl Scout camp, a service center in Hattiesburg that provides administrative services and program activities for girls, and a learning center in Gulfport for serving volunteers.

All of this adds up to the need for an operational budget for activity supplies, training supplies and publications, financial assistance to girls from low income families, financial assistance to girls and volunteers attending learning opportunities provided in other Girl Scout councils or by the national organization, employee salaries, utilities, property insurance, liability insurance, office supplies, office equipment, telephone, postage.

Q. Where else does the Gulf Pines Girls Scout Council obtain revenues for operations?

A. The principle source for income are the product sales, the support of the United Way, and Annual Giving (support from corporations, organizations and individuals).

Q. Who decides how the money is spent?

A. The budget is developed by a corporate planning process. Groups of volunteers and staff determine what resources are needed to accomplish specific goals and objectives for year.

The plan of action and budget necessary to provide the resources is presented to the Gulf Pines Council board of directors for approval or revision. The Gulf Pines Council has an audit performed annually and publishes an annual report with a statement of receipts, expenditures and financial conditions.

The Gulf Pines Council is not only accountable to the public, but to the United Way who help fund the organization, and to the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. (GSUSA). GSUSA is one of four youth organizations that is chartered by the United States Congress, and therefore is accountable to the Congress.

Q. Why does the Gulf Pines Council charge fees for events such as summer resident camp and weekend camping events?

A. The best way to answer this question is with a budget example of a popular weekend camping event in the Gulf Pines Council known as Brownie weekends.

The cost of providing five Brownie weekends totals $17,350. This covers the salaries of a qualified camp staff, food and beverage, activity supplies and promotion of the event. Income from event fees total $17,475.

Camping event fees do not pay the camp's utilities, provide for repairs or further development, maintain the grounds, provide property insurance, or a variety of other expenditures that result from maintaining a camp that is utilized by more than 7,000 Girl Scouts and other non-profit organizations annually.

Q. What kind of impact, if any, will Girl Scouting have on the future?

A. Mississippi, indeed our entire nation, cannot afford to leave untapped the skills and talents of over half the population. We will need women who are capable of making decisions, developing strategies, and leading the way to the future.

Many of these women will come from Girl Scouts. Because at some time during their formative years—when it really mattered—they learned in Girl Scouting that they could do and be anything they chose to be.

If you would like to know more about Girl Scouting please write the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council, P.O. Box 15309, Hattiesburg, MS 39402-5309 or call 582-0284 (Hattiesburg), 896-4047 (Gulfport), or 762-9671 (Pascagoula).

Social Security rates reflect increase in 1990

The tax rate for Social Security will be 7.65 percent in 1990 for employers and employees, and 15.3 percent for self-employed persons.

The wage base, the amount of earnings subject to the tax, will increase from $48,000 in 1989 to $50,400 in 1990.

New limits for the retirement earnings test—the amount of earnings a beneficiary can earn and still receive full Social Security benefits—are in effect for 1990.

The limits for 1990 increase from $8,880 to $9,360 for people age 65 to 69 and from $6,480 to $6,840 for people who are under 65. After a person's 70th birthday, no limit is placed on earnings. The amount of earnings needed to earn one work credit for Social Security coverage will be $520 in 1990, up from $500. A maximum of four work credits can be earned per year.

As a result of the increase in tax rate and wage base, the maximum yearly Social Security tax paid by employees and employers, each will rise by $250.80 to $3,885.60.

For self-employed persons, it will rise to $7,711.20. About 10.4 million workers and self-employed persons will earn more than $48,000 in 1990 and will be affected by the higher earnings base.

College cost-reducing strategies offered

By Janet K. Lukens
MCES Consumer
Management Specialist

There are many different ways to cut the cost of a college education. Regardless of the strategy, the short-term, as well as the long, benefits and costs should be carefully examined.

Sometimes a cost reduction plan may affect the quality of education or may be more expensive in the long run. I have listed several cost-reducing suggestions for students. Some ideas may be more useful to your child than others.

* Prepare a budget. Estimate the amount of income and how it will be divided between the educational costs and living expenses. Use a budget period that reflects the receipt of income whether it is received on a monthly, semester or quarterly basis.

Reduce living expenses. Some of the cost-reducing strategies are purchasing college-sponsored meal plans, working for room and board, or living at home for the first year or so of college and then transferring to a larger university. When comparing costs, consider parking fees and meals away from home as well as commuting expenses.

Reduce educational expenses by attending a less expensive college, attending a community college for two years then transferring to a more expensive college, buying used books, using the library, prepaying four years of tuition in advance, and shopping for tuition breaks and discounts.

* Reduce the time involved in earning a degree. For example, a student could take more courses per term/semester, attend summer school, and earn credits by examinations or by taking advanced courses in high school.

* Get the armed forces to pay for some of the college expenses by enrolling in the ROTC program or applying for veteran's educational benefits if eligible.

A cost-reducing strategy used by some wealthy individuals is to buy a house for a child to live in near the university where the child is enrolled.

Although this strategy can reduce living expenses, can provide tax write-offs, and may provide a capital gain when the house is sold, there are risks involved. Before using this strategy, discuss it with a financial planner and/or a tax advisor.

- 7 THE EMPEROR'S NEW MIND, by Roger Penrose. A physicist maintains that computers will never replace human thinking. (B)
- 8 A BRIEF HISTORY OF TIME, by Stephen W. Hawking. A scientist reviews efforts to create a unified theory of the universe. (B)
- 9 THE CUCKOO'S EGG, by Clifford Stoll. An astrophysicist tells how he stalked a computer hacker from California across America to West Germany. (B)
- 10 AMONG SCHOOLCHILDREN, by Tracy Kidder. A year in the life of a fifth-grade teacher in Holyoke, Mass. (B)

Jubilee! JAM recruits artists, craftsmen

The Jubilee! Jackson Arts and Music Festival is searching for Mississippi artists and craftsmen to participate in the fourth annual festival May 19-20.

"The arts and crafts booths are a highlight of Jubilee! JAM. It's exhilarating to see the diverse excellence of our arts and crafts offerings," said Joan Draper, volunteer chairperson of the 1990 Jubilee! JAM arts and crafts team.

Last year, 40,000 people jammed the streets of downtown Jackson for the arts and crafts, music and food of Mississippi's largest festival.

Up to 40 artists and crafts persons will be selected on the basis of four recent standard 2 x 2 35-millimeter color slides of the work the artist will show.

A 10' x 10' waterproof tent with roll-down sides will be provided along with electricity up to 500 watts. Deadlines for entries is Feb. 15.

Anyone interested in exhibiting at the 1990 Jubilee! JAM should contact (601) 366-6939 or write: Arts & Crafts, Jubilee! JAM, P.O. Box 2107, Jackson, MS 39205.
